Course Description:

The CMERRTT Program takes the complex topic of a radiological response and break it down into easily understood modules. Students will develop an understanding of radiological basics, radiological survey instruments, decontamination techniques, process for handling radiologically contaminated victims, and resources available to you during your response. The course includes several hours of hands-on activities including the use of radiation detection equipment, identifying the various types of radioactive material packaging, and the use of "live" radiation sources to reinforce learning. Upon successful completion of CMERRTT, each student will receive a certificate from the Department of Energy's Transportation Emergency Preparedness Program, including 6 continuing education hours (CEH) credit.

Student Criteria:

This course is open to all Emergency Management, Environmental, Rescue, Fire, Emergency Medical, and Law Enforcement personnel or any organization having responsibility for responding to a hazardous materials incident. Awareness and Operations class would be beneficial to the student

Special Notes:

Advance student registration is REQUIRED and must be received by July 11, 2018 in order to participate in this course. MAXIMUM # of student seats available is 24. You are considered accepted as a student in this class upon receipt of your application by this office so you will not receive a letter acknowledging that acceptance.
